A woman with short grey hair, wearing a green long-sleeved shirt and a colorful necklace, sits on a black chair. A man with short dark hair, wearing a grey sweater and reddish-brown pants, sits on a wooden chair next to her. They are both looking down at a stack of papers on the table between them. The background shows a white wooden porch railing and a white house with horizontal siding. The text is overlaid on the image, with the first part in white and the second part in green.

Welcome to Norway

Since the late 20th century, immigration has accounted for most of Norway's population growth. All of these groups speak many different languages and come from different cultures and religions.

There are 420 municipalities in Norway, including 70 self-settlements, and approximately 2 500 000 house owners all over the country.

Risør

Risør is a city and municipality in Aust-Agder county. The city belongs to the traditional region of Sørlandet. It was a city built as a result of shipping and industrial interests. The surrounding area includes many small lakes and hills, and is known for its beautiful coastline as well.

A photograph of two women standing on a balcony. The woman on the left is wearing a red abaya and a black and white patterned hijab. The woman on the right is wearing a white and black striped long-sleeved shirt and black pants. They are both smiling. The background shows a residential area with red-tiled roofs and white buildings under an overcast sky. A semi-transparent dark grey box is overlaid on the image, containing the text 'Job Community Family.'
